

Creation Schedule

March 8th

The schedule for our first competition is in and it's a great one. It will be an awesome way to ease into a busy March for our competitive team. Since this is the first competition of the season, I have outlined several important pieces of information for you.

1. Competitions often run up to an hour ahead/behind. Please be dressed and ready at the call time listed below.
2. Moving Co. staff will be responsible for your child while they are with us, but it is a good idea for parents to communicate with their dancer about a common meeting place. Communication is key so that the kids know where and when to meet back up with their parents.
3. At Moving Company, we are good team players! We clap and cheer for all dances regardless of what studio they are representing. We do not talk poorly about other groups back stage, in the dressing rooms, nor in the auditorium. You never know who might overhear criticisms about costumes, dances, etc.
4. All students are required to attend their awards ceremony. If they are done dancing long before their awards ceremony you are welcome to leave as long as you are back in plenty of time for awards. They must be wearing either Moving Co wear (tees, sweats, warm-ups, etc) or their costume for awards.
5. Creation Dance Champs takes the number of years kids have been in competitive dance into account when they score. Listed below, you will find either the word "competitive" or "novice" listed by each routine. I have calculated these properly so that each group is considered appropriately at the first competition.

Please feel free to let me know if you have any questions!
